

What's New for Roofing

Issue
#10

Thursday 10th
March 2022

All the latest Roofing information for Pitched and Flat

Chris Wilson

Tile supply shortage finally looks to be ending.

After a rather uncertain last 24 months in the world, and production falling by the wayside in almost all industries, it is now beginning to look as though those dreaded lead-times may soon be radically reduced. With a number of new employees being hired at the production line of some of the UKs leading tile providers such as Redland and Marley, it appears as though there is finally going to be consistent stock, rendering those empty shelves a thing of the past.

An All-in-one Roof kits?

The world of liquid roofing can sometimes present minor yet frustrating issues, such as not being able to source all of the items for the system you are using in the same place. This can inevitably result in waiting on long lead times for small yet important items that are essential for the particular system you are using. The all-new FIX-R Roofing Kits are designed specifically to save the installer time and money. There are many different kits to choose from with varying sizes, coverage rates and application types. Using a FIX-R Roofing Kit eradicates the likelihood of having excess product leftover or not having enough to complete the job. Each kit includes all of the components you will need in order to successfully install a liquid-applied flat roof.

Sedum Green Roof

Are Green Roofs the Way Forward?

Using the very best in raw materials and sparing no waste, the Green Roof is a very popular option in modern day roofing. While highly sustainable, it also is extremely high in water retention, taking away the need for plastic drainage systems and aiding the growth of plants. In the modern age almost all we do has a direct impact on the environment, even in small ways we likely wouldn't even consider, but now as eco awareness is growing around the world, many people are beginning to acknowledge that even the smallest actions every day can have a sizeable impact on the carbon footprint.

BMI academy is touring Britain

To commemorate the 15th annual Apprenticeship week, BMI's Technical Training Manager Matthew Woodvatt, will be spending the next few months visiting UK colleges and other training providers in support of apprentices and their tutors across the roofing industry. The National Apprenticeship resembles the positive efforts that apprenticeships offer to the economy and wider society. Matthew told us that he is "Both thrilled and honored to be taking on this opportunity".

Prevent Theft On Site

The 5 best ways 2022

By Chris Beazer

- Lock up keys
- Circle up large equipment
- Store materials inside
- Mark Property Lines Clearly
- Report Suspicious Activity

SIG Roofing's new Slough branch completes first year.

First birthday for branch

By Mirjam Nilsson

Branch Manager, Phill English, said: "I am proud that we have reached that first-year milestone. By updating SIG sites with the latest facilities, we remain committed to investing in our local infrastructure and improving services for customers.

Sale on all V2 nails

50% off when you spend over £100

Sarah Mitcham

For one week only as of June 2022, with every £100 spent you will receive any 1kg bag of V2 nails for half price. This promotion is set to start on Monday June the 6th and to end on Saturday June the 11th.